OPP and escapees in chase numerous charges pending

Two police cruisers from the Minden Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police became involved in a wild chase during the early hours of Saturday, June 19, in an attempt to apprehend a stolen vehicle. The chase began in the Gooderham area and ended three miles south of Kinmount on Highway 121 after two young escapees from the Adult Retraining Centre in Brampton eluded the police on foot. Two female juveniles, both 15 years of age, were apprehended while the two male persons fled into the bush.

Gregory John Lemieux, age 16, and George Edward Doolittle, age 20, fled the scene after turning the stolen van sideways on the road to block the police units when the van apparently ran out of gasoline. During the chase the lead O.P.P. cruiser was rammed twice while apparently trying to get ahead of the van, as the driver of the vehicle attempted to force the cruiser into the ditch. An estimated $600 damage was sustained to the police car while the stolen van was damaged to an extent of $200, with apparently no injuries occurring to anyone. In order to pull off their escape, the occupants of the van threw everything out of the vehicle in an effort to stop the pursuit by the police - the ditched articles including rifles taken from a break-in in Haliburton, a mattress and kitchen utensils.

Minden O.P.P. stated that the two Retraining Centre escapees had been on the loose for approximately two weeks, and while the pair were being sought, they were considered armed and dangerous.

The Ontario Provincial Police brought in a tracking dog from Barrie but the dog and its handler, Constable Gary Penley, were unable to locate the two men due to the adverse weather conditions. During the search police found a cottage that had been broken into, another stolen van and a stolen motorcycle that police believe the two had been using. A spokesman for the Minden O.P.P. Detachment said it appeared the cottage had been in use for about two weeks.

Constable Weldon Popp was the driver of the lead cruiser during the chase and an unmarked unit followed with Constable Roy Telford and Corporal Peter Alexander in pursuit.

The two juvenile females were taken to the Minden Detachment office and were later returned to their families.

Metropolitan Toronto Police arrested Gregory John Lemieux on Sunday, June 20, and York Regional Police arrested George Edward Doolittle on Monday, June 21. We were informed that one of the juvenile girls was apparently with Lemieux when he was taken into custody.

At last report, a spokesman for the Minden Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police stated that they were tracing all the goods recovered and that the pair will be facing numerous criminal charges upon completion of the investigation.

RIFLES RECOVERED DURING CHASE

During Wednesday, June 16, some persons entered the residence of Peter Curry in Haliburton and four rifles valued at $850. were reported stolen. These rifles were recovered on Saturday, June 19, during a wild police chase of a stolen van which began in the Gooderham area and ended on Highway 121 three miles south of Kinmount. The rifles and several other items were tossed out of the van at the pursuing police vehicles. Ontario Provincial Police Constables Jim Solway and Roy Telford investigated this report, and charges are pending the results of the investigation.

Break-in at Mike's

Investigation is continuing by Ontario Provincial Police Constable Mike Maher of the Minden Detachment into a break-in and theft from the Mike's Milk store in the village of Minden during the early hours of Saturday morning, June 19. Four sliding glass windows and two screens were damaged in the illegal entry with a quantity of cigarettes and sun glasses being stolen from the store. The loss is estimated to be about $120.

Electronic mosquito repellers ineffective

"Consumers should check carefully before spending money for electronic mosquito repellers," Sidney Handleman, Ontario minister of consumer and commercial relations, warned today.

Research conducted by the University of Toronto's department of microbiology and parasitology finds no basis to assume that mosquitoes are affected by the sound waves sent out by devices which are now marketed in Ontario. The U of T findings confirm those of studies in Russia and the United States.

Mr. Handleman said that some manufacturers "are attempting to 'cash in' on recent reports that encephalitis-carrying mosquitoes could spread to southern Ontario this summer."

The manufacturers of the pocket-size gadgets claim the devices emit a sound which repels female (biting) mosquitoes and are effective over a range of nine to 12 feet. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency found that "no protection was afforded against the landings and bites of these insects."

An unpublished report by two members of the Canada Committee on Biting Flies states that "the devices that have been subjected to scientific evaluation have given totally negative results," and that researchers agree that sound does not affect the behaviour of female mosquitoes.

Another type of electronic device currently being sold to control mosquitoes is the ultra-violet or "black light" grid, adapted from models used to control flies in dairy barns and food processing plants. Although effective in eliminating flies in closed areas, the unit has not been proven effective when used outdoors, according to the report.

Until scientists develop more effective methods to combat the pests, the best protection against mosquito bites is to wear protective clothing and apply insect repellent or burn the inexpensive coils which release an insecticide," the U of T researcher said.

The Ontario ministries of the environment and health have been working with the municipalities in developing efficient mosquito control programs in areas of the province where encephalitis is a potential source of concern.

As part of this program, information on personal protection against mosquitoes and householder control of breeding sites is available from local health units across much of southern Ontario or from Environment Ontario regional and district offices.

The vehicle involved is a leased car which is operated by Agnes Bowskill, and recovery was made by the Lindsay Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police.

A 1975 Toyota was stolen from Wilberforce area and was recovered on Saturday, June 19, by the York Regional Police Department. The vehicle is owned by Ida Holmes.

The Minden Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police wish to once again remind ALL MOTORISTS to take a few seconds extra and protect their own property by locking their vehicles.

WHISTLING SWAN
(Cygnus columbianus columbianus)

Unless you live in Canada's Arctic where the whistling swan breeds, you will likely have the opportunity to see this magnificent bird only during its spring and fall migrations. Even then you will have to be an alert observer since these swans commonly migrate at night and are very wary during the day. Due to the threatened extinction of the whistling swan's nearly identical relative, the trumpeter swan, both of these species are protected against hunting.

Stanhope notes

Alex Stevenson

Stanhope Township Council may be again expected to discuss the Ontario Home Renewal Program at the next meeting of Township Council July 14th, 1976.

OHRP is designed to assist owner occupants to repair or rehabilitate their homes and such eligible owner occupants would be able to obtain loans which may be repayable or forgivable.

The assistance is intended for those in low income levels and the amount of forgivable loan is determined by the income of the applicant as is the interest payable on the repayable portion of a loan, and the repayment schedule on the loans.

The prime objective of OHRP is the repair of structural faults or sanitary conditions, the upgrading of plumbing, heating and electrical systems in residences which are owner occupied, but is not intended to cover additions to houses.

Municipalities entering into the program assume a considerable responsibility since they would be required to administer the plan locally and to supply the staff to undertake this task.

Among these duties would be, interviewing applicants, inspecting properties, obtaining credit reports, searching titles, approving loans and the amount that would be forgivable and that which would be repayable, inspecting work, and other administrative requirements laid down by the Ministry of Housing for Ontario.

Council will be giving thorough study to these requirements and Councillor John Tomlinson who is interested in bringing the program to Stanhope will be taking an active part in any discussions which take place.

Reeve Sinc Nesbitt will also be eagerly supporting the effort to introduce the plan to this Township, particularly since he had to reluctantly give up hopes of doing so early in 1975, due to the difficulty of complying with the requirements in effect at that time.

The new garage to house the Township road equipment will soon be under construction, the grading is finished and material for the job is being moved onto the site, and once started the contractor is not expected to lose much time getting the job completed.

The move into the new Stanhope Township Library has been completed and the public began using the building on Wednesday, July 16th, and there have been many pleased comments from the library patrons.

The Stanhope Township Library Fund has already received a number of cash donations from friends of the Library, which will be used for the purchase of furniture for the reading room and also for the meeting room.

Landscaping is now underway, but this part of the work can only be partially completed till after the masonry work is completed.

Canadians no longer best insured in the world

Contrary to a long-held popular belief, Canadians are no longer the best insured people in the world. According to recent surveys, the United States and Japan have moved out in front.

On a per capita basis, ownership of life insurance by Canadians ranks second, after that of the people of the United States. Canadians own an average of $8,300, Americans $9,400.

M.P.P. John Eakins asks questions on by-passes

QUESTION:

I wonder if the Minister could supply me with information as to why so many people on Highway 35 at the Minden By-Pass in Haliburton County have been turned down for access to that Highway when last August the Peterborough Lumber Co. received permission to gain access to the Highway.

ANSWER by Hon. James Snow:

The Minden By-Pass was purchased in the early fifties and designated as a controlled access highway in 1955. Access was allowed in the original property agreements for existing land uses and a limited amount of commercial entrances were permitted at that time. It is the intention of this Ministry to improve the existing north junction of old Highway 35 and lands for the new connection was purchased some 1000 feet south of the existing junction. The lands of Peterborough Lumber Company are located directly opposite this new road connection and a future public road could be allowed at this location since it is not in fact creating a new intersection. The Peterborough Lumber Company has agreed that their access will be positioned on a 66 foot right-of-way and that this access can be converted to a public road upon demand. This is in keeping with Ministry guide-lines, and we would also have no objections to other development taking place via a municipal street system on the By-Pass.

Supplementary Question:

Could the Minister tell me what is the policy of his Ministry in regard to controlled access highways? Does it vary from area to area or is it the same across the Province?

Answer by Hon. James Snow

It is the policy of this Ministry to append a controlled access designation on those highways where it is desirable to control the type and amount of access which will be permitted. While the formal designation never varies, the degree of control is a discretionary matter which can differ from highway to highway depending on the function of the highway. All controlled access highways are evaluated prior to designation and written instructions are issued defining the degree of control to insure the purpose and viability of these roadways are retained. For example, no individual direct access is permitted to free-ways such as Highway 401 whereas access is permitted for the present use of abutting lands on highways such as the Minden, Lindsay and Gamebridge By-Passes which were all necessitated because the existing sections had become heavily built-up and the purpose of the controlled access designations in these instances was not to prohibit all access but to limit the amount of accesses which is permitted.

The precipitation experienced during the past week of June 11th - 18th has had little effect on the water levels through the Kawartha. The flow was increased from the Reservoir Lakes at the beginning of this week and as of June 15th, the storage was 93%.

Construction crews from the Waterway have been doing work on some of the reservoir dams. This week safety railings and log booms across the front of the dam were installed on Moore's Falls, White, Contains (Con-tau) and Pine Lake Dams.

It is expected that flows out of the reservoir lakes will have to be increased at the beginning of next week if the weather remains warm with little or no precipitation. The flows past Peterborough are at the minimum of 500-600 cubic feet per second in order to retain as much water as possible.

Unconscionable lockout

The process of collective bargaining between workers and employers has fallen into disrepute in Canada. During the five years ending in 1974, Canada's record for work days lost through strikes was an average annual 1,732 for each 1,000 people employed. Among western industrial nations, we were second only to Italy.

In this scenario, labor has always been tagged as the villain. But in the Peterborough area of late we have witnessed the emergence of a new phenomenon - public health boards administering shock treatment to the labor movement by means of the lockout.

Dr. Bryan Pell, director of the psychiatry department of Civic Hospital has written Health Minister Frank Miller protesting the lockout of nurses in the employ of the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge Health Unit. If the health board continues the lockout, community, psychiatric services will be gravely damaged; they are already suffering.

Dr. Pell's letter details for the health minister how heavily dependent the psychiatric service is on the public health nurses. The letter shows how essential the other services performed by the nurses are to the communities they serve.

Dr. Pell does not specify precisely what he would like the minister to do. His intent is to counter the assertion of health unit chairman Mervyn Moore that the nurses don't perform essential services.

What the health minister should do is nonetheless clear. He should end the lockout. If legislation is required for that, let the legislation be brought in.

The argument has already been fully thrashed out: essential public services must be maintained. To that end, much thought is now being given to ending the right to strike for public service employees. No thought at all is required to arrive at the conclusion that employers in the public service should not be empowered to use the lockout weapon.

The nurses employed by the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge Health Unit have declared themselves willing to work. They are willing to accept arbitration of their demands. The health unit is not, and has locked its doors against them.

As politics, it is an astonishing display of stupidity. As an attitude to public health it is unconscionable.

Guest Editorial ...

With most people buying stocks is a hit and miss affair. Usually the aim is to make a fast buck. No stock broker can advise you what to buy if he does not know your financial situation and objection.

Before investing, or worse still speculating, one should sit down and ask himself what his situation requires.

In other words he should have a plan and the plan rather than the "fast buck" should determine what he buys.

Generally speaking the money you put into stocks should be money you can afford to use, as practically all stocks have a speculation aspect. Even the best of stock can take a bad licking after the Government has meddled with the economy.

Imperial Oil a blue chip stock, one sold for $44.00, today it is $23 1/8. Tran's Mountain Pipe line once sold for $25.00 it is now around $10.50. These are both well managed stocks.

When you purchase stocks your plan should determine whether it is for the short term or the long term - whether you should play it safe or take greater chances.

The safety of principal is the first consideration. Knowing when to sell is more difficult than knowing when to buy and many people make the mistake of getting a little greedy. You just can't go broke taking a profit. Some people follow the practice of selling 50% of a stock if it goes up by that amount. In so doing they "skim the cream off the milk" leaving their original investment in talk.

Generally speaking, don't buy stocks on tips. Don't marry a stock. They change "Mother Bell" was $55.00 once - now $47.00. Choose a broker you have confidence in, don't buy on margin unless you are prepared to lose your shirt. Limit your profits to ten stocks. Actually this is a very uncertain time to buy stocks unless a real bull market emerges.

For a young married man buying a home is a safer and more profitable expenditure, but you must buy it right. The next five years the cost of houses will go up, but not anything like they have during the last five years - Right now the market is soft in spots.

Report from Queen's Park

by John Eakins
M.P.P., Victoria-Haliburton

The Government will decide in the next few weeks how to handle a legislative directive to reintroduce a broad new farm income stabilization bill by the end of October. This directive came from a combined vote by New Democrats and Liberals which defeated a Government bill to provide a measure of income protection to a limited number of farmers. To ignore the directive would be considered contempt of the Legislature and almost certainly prompt another confidence test of election crisis.

Jack Riddell, Liberal MPP (Huron-Middlesex), the Party's Agriculture Critic, referring to defeat of Bill 96, said "It is our firm intention to force the Government to bring in a Bill which will really assist the farming community. Had the Government made an honest attempt to bring in a form of Farm Income Stabilization which would have been effective in giving our farmers a degree of income protection, we would not have hesitated to give it our approval. Hopefully, amended legislation will be introduced in the fall which will meet the needs of the farmers, and win the support of all three parties in the Legislature."

The Labour and Health Ministers undertook to meet representatives of the boards of health to seek an end to the boards' dispute with public health nurses. Several hundred nurses demonstrated outside the Legislature this week and the Labour Minister was booed and jeered when she said she couldn't make any promises, although she would try to persuade boards to submit to voluntary arbitration. About 1,100 nurses, members of the Ontario Nurses Association have been on strike or locked out at some 26 health units in a week-long protest. Nurses's association representatives met the Labour and Health Ministers privately, but came away bitter and disappointed. Annual salaries for public health nurses range from about $9,000 to $12,000 compared with hospital nurses who make between $13,380 and $15,780. Liberal Leader Stuart Smith told the Legislature the government should introduce legislation which would force the health boards to bargain on a province-wide basis and accept compulsory arbitration.

James Bullbrook, Liberal MPP (Sarnia), and the Party's Labour Critic has introduced nine Private Members' Bills amending the Ontario Labour Relations Act. Among the proposals are definitions of such terms as lockout and supervisory personnel and the elimination of employee anti-union petitions as a consideration in union certification hearings. One bill provides for reopening of collective agreements in the event of significant technological change. Another is aimed at minimizing the number of court appeals of arbitrator's awards. The amendments also provide a definition of professional strikebreakers as well as prohibiting their use. They would make it more difficult for an employer to obtain an order stopping a strike and easier for a union to obtain a first collective agreement following certification.

The Government's bill to provide a warranty to buyers of new homes in Ontario was given approval in principle in the Legislature. This bill would provide for protection against poor workmanship or poor materials for one year and major structural defects for five years. The Minister of Consumer and Commercial Relations told the Legislature that a non-profit corporation of builders, consumers, mortgage lenders and government will administer a fund, which would be used to pay for any repairs. Builders will contribute to the fund at a fixed rate for each house place on the market. Although all three parties supported the Bill, some amendments will be sought when it is debated in Committee.

A Consumer Products Warranty Bill has also been introduced, but consumers will have to wait for similar legislation from other provinces before the bill becomes law. The Government will not proceed with debate on the legislation, but will await response from the public, business, other provinces, and the federal government. This new act will cover most products costing more than $25 which are considered moveable possessions. It will not cover products such as food, drink, medicine, cosmetics, clothing and securities.

Chemical emissions from a Cayuga resin plant are not strong enough to create a health hazard, the Minister of the Environment said this week. he told the Legislature that Ministry officials will take new air samples around the St. Lawrence Resin Products Ltd. plant, but said that past tests have shown the amount of aldehyde emitted is negligible. The plant has, according to the Minister, a history of producing malodors in the neighbourhood, and the Government has twice prosecuted the plant for this. On the first occasion, in 1971, the case was lost, and in March 1972, a fine of $100 was levied against this company.

Other items of interest this week:-

A Bill to control rowdyism in Ontario's provincial parks was given approval in principle. It would give all powers of provincial police to district managers, superintendents and park wardens, but would not allow them to carry guns.

Liberal Leader Stuart Smith asked whether the Ontario Government will take action to protect rape victims from undue harassment by employer. He said such victims should also get a reasonable amount of time off work. The Labour Minister said protection of victims is a problem and will be examined carefully.

From the Chamber

by Bob Stinson

The Power boat races at Haliburton last weekend were successful in that they were crowd pleasers and they went off very smoothly on Sunday after being rained out Saturday. The disappointment was that they did not generate as much accommodation traffic as was anticipated. If a sponsor could be found to cover the financial responsibilities it would certainly be a worthwhile annual event. A vote of thanks is due the Rotary, Legion, and Kashagawigamog Assoc. for undertaking this project.

On July 5th, the Chamber will once again be arranging a luncheon. The Honourable Claude Bennett, Minister of Industry and Tourism will be passing through the Highlands and after a tour of the new Pine Stone Inn and County Club will be meeting with members of our community for lunch. All this attention from Queen's Park is certainly gratifying. We have even been promised a special mention in the Ministry's "Fall Events" booklet which is going to print shortly.

Our "Travel Counsellors" have now been hired for the summer under the governments "Opportunities for Youth" programme. They have undergone two days of training in Peterborough, and we are now in the midst of showing them around the county and visiting as many individual members as possible within a few days. Terry Griffin and Lorri Stinson were the only applicants from our area and we are confident they will do a good job for us. We will now be able to keep the office open 7 days a week. Fridays we will be open 10 a.m. to 9:00 p.m., Sunday to 6:00 p.m. and the balance of the week 10:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. All members are urged to make sure you are taking advantage of these facilities whether it is your brochure or just some business cards.

Barbara Bolin tells us there are still openings at the Haliburton School of Fine Arts for some very interesting courses this summer. Don't feel that these facilities are only available to summer visitors - there is a wealth of information here at our doorstep for everyone to take advantage of - just call the school and they will be glad to give you the details.

The Haliburton Snowmobile Association is busy gathering donations for their July 3rd Sale in Minden, so if you still have any odds and ends, they may be able to sell contact Ken Fielding, Roy Bates, Bob Jennings or any of the other directors and they will see that they are picked up. They still have a long way to go to pay for that "Bombi".

Bill Smiley

I'M TRYING to figure out some way to go and see my son in Paraguay this summer. Maybe my faithful readers can help.

There's nothing whatever to stop me from just buying a plane ticket and going. Nothing whatever except that I can't afford it. There's a pile of miles between here and there. And the way my wife's been throwing money around lately — new carpeting, new wallpaper, new sewing machine — we'll be lucky if we get through the summer with enough left over to pay admission to the Fall Fair. So, I'll just have to use my native ingenuity, which is also present in very tiny amounts.

Why bother, you say. Why not let the kid come home for a visit? Well, his monthly income is probably around forty bucks, so he has the same problem I have.

He's been there over a year now, and for some reason, he doesn't get our letters, though we receive his. And he is my only son. And he must be lonely. He managed a long-distance call to his mother in February, on her birthday, from Argentina. But he just has no contact with home, and we can't phone him. Just as well. If we could, the old lady would probably be calling him every Sunday night, at about $30 a rattle.

Besides, I love to travel, and I've never been to South America. His mother flatly won't go. She's afraid of being trampled by an elephant or squeezed by a boa constrictor or pinched on the bum by a South American sheik or something.

Slowly, a plan is emerging. There are a few blank spots, but my itinerary is taking shape.

I think I could rake up the price of a bus ticket to New York. From there it's a short hop to Bermuda. On that beautiful island lives a Faithful Reader, a subscriber to the Kincardine News, who has sent back work with a mutual acquaintance that she'd be delighted to show me the island. She'd probably put us up and feed us for a day or two.

Next stop, Jamaica. My nephew has a house and servant there. I have fed that boy (of 26) his bottle and changed his diaper in years gone by. He owes me.

Then a zig across the Caribbean to Mexico City, where a friend of a friend lives. A bed and board and a couple of days among the Aztec ruins would be a nice change.

After that, we hop to Guyana, first stop in South America. (It used to be Dutch Guiana). My brother worked there for a couple of years and has influential friends in the capital, Paramaribo. I should be able to doss down with one of them for a couple of nights while I get acclimatized.

It's the next stop that worries me. Once I get to Rio de Janeiro, I'm home free. I have an old girl friend there, Sylvia. She was a knockout when I knew her in college, and we used to neck under the trees in Queen's Park until I was so weak I couldn't have gone one round with Carmen Miranda. She might not recognize the wreck confronting her, but all I'd have to do is say: "It's Beel. Yo chamo," and she'd throw open the door. She'd recognize immediately that Canadian pronunciation of "Eu t'amo" (I love you) which she taught me from the Portuguese.

One big problem. Between Paramaribo, on the north coast of S.A., and Rio, down around the middle of the continent, lie about 1,500 miles of jungle, mountains, jaguars (not the car) and cannibals. Enough stuff to give any man the twitch.

So here's your chance to help, gentle reader. If you happen to have an uncle or brother working in the tin mines of La Paz, high in the Andes, we could zig over there and let him put us up for the night.

This would mean a jungle jump of only about 500 miles, a mere bagatelle, though the Andes are a bit dicey. From La Paz, in Bolivia, to Asuncion, Paraguay, is a mere half day's hop.

Then it's just a day's ride by bus up into the Chaco (or Green Hell, as it is known) and it's a casual, "Hi, Hugh. Thought I'd drop down and say hello." I can just see his face. And hear his first remark, "Where's Mom?"

As you can see, the trip would be a piece of cake, once we sorted out a few rough spots, like that jungle bit. On the way home, we could go around by Sao Paulo, where I know a couple of nurses. Or did 30 years ago. No problem.

All it needs is a little co-operation from my readers. If you know anyone who could put us up for the night in Peru or Chile or Buenos Aires, feel free to drop a line. We'll shack up with anyone, even missionaries.

Oh. There's one other thing. You may have noticed that I've been using "we" all along, and that my wife isn't going. There's no paradox involved.

I'm quite certain that some Faithful Reader has a light aircraft, a pilot's license, and the summer off. Preferably male, though if the Women's Lib raises a stink, I'll take anybody.

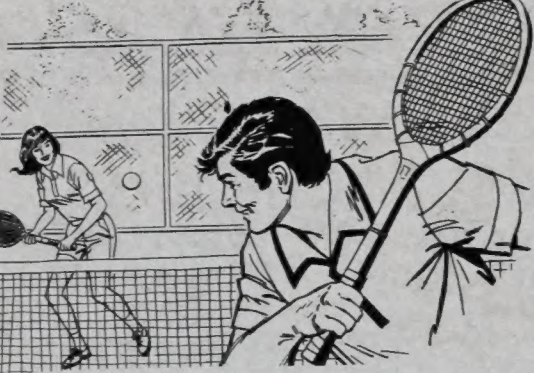

I'll be perfectly willing to split the cost of the gas. No guarantees, of course, except lots of southern hospitality, and home by Christmas, d.v.

WILSON'S PHALAROPE — This dainty little shorebird nests on the grassy uplands bordering marshes. Unique among shorebirds, it is the female phalarope that sports the bright, strikingly patterned plumage, while the male, in much subdued tones, attends to nesting chores. He incubates the eggs! When swimming, phalaropes ride high on the water, spinning around in little circles, bills dipping below the surface to pick up aquatic insects stirred up by their activities. They also consume quantities of dry land insects when feeding on dry meadows bordering the marsh.

The Bancroft IGA softball team are shown at the bat, playing against the Rockcliffe Hotel team in the ball tourney played at Haliburton last Saturday.

Bancroft wins Tournament

The rain was falling, the ball was wet and slippery, but the Haliburton Legion Allstars with J. Snell on the mound came to win. The Allstars scored two runs in the opening frame but Palmers got one run their first time in. The teams traded runs in the third to make it 3-2. They played even ball until the sixth when Haliburton broke it wide open with 3 runs. Paul Sisson added his second of the game in the seventh to allow Haliburton the one sided 7-2 win.

GAME #2 Minden Rockets vs Bancroft IGA

Starting pitcher R. Hartwick pitched good ball for the first 3 innings although Bancroft scored 2 runs, but in the fourth he got himself into trouble, loaded the bases and walked one run in. Bancroft scored four runs before reliever Craig Stamp came in. In the fifth Hartwick started off with a bunt to go to first. Stamp came to bat and knocked Kenny Bowers pitch out over first to clear the fence of a homer. Final score Bancroft winning 6-4.

GAME #3 Fenelon Falls Pirates vs Harcourt Lumber Kings

The Lumber Kings ran into a very hot pitcher when they faced the Pirates. Spencer fanned 14 batters in the game and team mate Tom Lee put two runs on the board with a homer in the third. Tuff and Spencer scored again in the fourth for the Falls. Harcourt finally got on the score sheet in the sixth with two runs, but it was all they could do as the Pirates held on for the 4-2 victory. Roy Hoare was charged with the loss.

GAME 4 Bancroft IGA vs Fenelon Falls Pirates

This was the best game of the day with Rick Card on the mound for Bancroft and lefthander Ken Richardson starting for the Pirates. Fenelon loaded up the bases right off the bat in the opening frame, before Bancroft was able to get on top of them and put them away with three left on. Bancroft came on to score two runs in the second. The fourth inning saw some great fielding by Pete Slater with one shoestring catch that some fans thought had been trapped. By this time Fenelon put Spencer back on the mound although he had just pitched a complete game. Good defensive work by Bancroft put the Pirates away in the fifth again with three left on. At the top of the seventh with Fenelon batting, M. Childs scored making it 2-1 with a man on second and third bases, but Bancroft was too strong and retired the Pirates to take the victory.

The Haliburton Legion Allstars which had very few Legion regulars on it, won the flip to get the bye into the final game with Bancroft.

GAME #5 Bancroft IGA vs Haliburton Legion Allstars

Haliburton started off well with Cliff Burke scoring, but a couple of Legion men were very nervous and allowed the Bancroft men to score three runs on errors and one earned run in the second inning. Ron Perrin scored in the third for the Legion, but it was to no avail as Bancroft blew them off with a 7-2 score, led by Ken Bowser pitching his second strong game of the day and Peter Slater scoring two runs. Jack Snell had the loss.

Weatherman becomes competitor

Track & Field

A very hot, humid day greeted the competitors in this year's County Track and Field meet. As this type of weather is hardly conducive to running, jumping and throwing at your outer limits, a special respect should be granted all organizers and competitors, especially those who came out on top.

Roy Hoare member of the Haliburton Highlands Senior Elementary School athletics staff, reports that the events ran smoothly with no injuries. The following is a list of winners and our respect and congratulations goes out to them.

GOODERHAM OUTDOES WEST GUILFORD

With newly acquired pitcher Linda Berry formerly of Minden playing her usual strong game, Gooderham won their second start in a row. Gooderham scored in every inning while West Guilford had trouble getting on the board until late in the game when Angela Sisson homered to get them started. It was a case of too little too late as Gooderham came out on top 16-9.

Natural Resources Report

In talking to Paul Musclow we find there was one small fire handled by the Ministry this week and that was in Glamorgan Township. The fire was quickly extinguished after consuming only 1 acre of bush.

We have reason to feel secure in this area with three unit crews, one in Minden, Haliburton and Gooderham, plus 85 fire wardens. Our crews have been doing their part in the northern disaster areas with Haliburton going to Ignace and Minden to Dryden. Don't let these facts lull you into a false sense of security, because we have had 37 fires in our area destroying 335 acres of bush. The fire danger scale in laymans terms runs this way 0 to 5 Low; 6 to 10 Medium; 11 to 21 High and over 21 is extreme. As of last Thursday it stood at 6 in our vicinity.

The fish and wildlife department is busy as usual. There is a current 3 year program called Creel Census, whereby officers are checking fishermen's catches to determine the fish harvests in lakes.

Determining annual harvests to help ensure future catches and prevent over-harvesting. This program is costing $45,000.

The annual spring bear-hunt closed on June 15th and there has been only a few "nuisance bears" reported.

Although Aubrey Gostlin and Steve Toole report report fair to good fishing in the Western reaches of our area. Bruce Sawyer in Haliburton reports that high winds have kept fishermen off the lakes resulting in fairly meager catches. Some luck has been had in Percy, Otter and North Lakes. Clear and MacDonald lakes in the Haliburton Wild life Reserve have yielded some catches of lakere. The catch of the week seems to be a 12 lb. Muskie caught in Pine Lake by a guest of Rips Sleepy Hollow.

NOTICE TO MOOSE AND DEER HUNTERS

It should be noticed by all hunters that this fall the deer season will again be two weeks in length despite rumours that it would be shortened. The season will run from the First of November through to the 13th, however, although there will be a moose season, it will run concurrently with the first week of deer season only, that is from the First through to the Sixth of November.

SPORTS

Yes, Haliburton Does have a Winning Baseball Team

As we open this baseball season (Haliburton Ladies Softball) we find the Haliburton Ladies off to a very fine start. The team is undefeated in exhibition play, downing West Guilford, Gooderham and Carnarvon.

We're looking for a very strong offensive team this season, having scored an average of 30 (yes, that's thirty) runs in each exhibition outing. However, there is evidence of a good defensive squad, behind a fine pitching staff, having had only a maximum of 12 runs scored against.

This is exciting news, as Haliburton appears to have a good chance of unseating the current champs (three years running) Minden.

THE ACID TEST

The stage was set. Here was the undefeated Haliburton team facing Minden current champs of the H.L.S.L. who, incidentally, went undefeated all last season in winning the cup.

Haliburton took to the field electing to start with Jean Livingston on the mound. Minden scored one run, before succumbing to strong defensive play by the Haliburton squad.

The Haliburton team was unable to score in its first inning, but came back to score eight runs in the next three innings, while holding Minden to one run in the fourth.

Nancy Maughan came to the mound in relief of Jean pitching very strongly to give Haliburton their first victory over the incumbent champs in three seasons. Nancy not only pitched well, but scored four times behind strong hitting from Sheila Elston and Bev Hughey's first four-bagger of the young season. Congrats to the entire team.

SPORTTOWNS HAVE PROMISE

H.L.S.L. welcomed a new team to their league this year from West Guilford and the new team promises to be an immediate contender in giving the Carnarvon Ranchers a tough game to start their season.

Another ballplayer from the Nicholls family in the form of Alberta, the pitcher, played see-saw ball with the Ranchers until the Ranchers built a sizable lead in the fifth inning.

The Sporttowns did not give in easily, led by a homer from the bat of Jackie Yatenan they challenged to the end.

Strong pitching from Belinda Brown and a spectacular single-handed double play by Audrey Redner, catching a fly and tagging runner Juanita Sisson before she could return to second base, allowed Carnarvon to win 26-19.

PITCHING DUEL

Last week saw five of the leading pitchers facing off in what promised to be a pitching duel that would result in a low scoring game. The fans would not be disappointed as Rick Hartwick led the Gull River Build-all team to a 4-2 victory over the Dominion Hotel squad led by Jack Snell on the mound. It was 1-1 at the end of the third inning. Gull River added one more score in the fifth and two more runs late in the game, while Dominion scored one more time to result in the final tally.

SHIP WITHOUT A RUDDER

Again the Huskies appeared to be floundering because of a lack of a coach in attendance when they faced the powerhouse West Guilford team. Newly acquired pitcher Tim Bain, coming from West Guilford in a trade for Gary McKnight gives Haliburton a respectable one-two pitching staff.

However, even with Salvatore and Curry hitting they were no match for the men from Guilford. With second string pitcher Barry Shaw doing a very capable job and veteran George Nicholls, Floyd Henry and the Stamp boys, Craig and Darryl poking the ball very well, it's easy to see why this Guilford team is a top contender.

Only good pitching from Tim Bain and some fine fielding from Steve Wood kept the score respectable at 5-2 in favour of Guilford.

GOODERHAM TOPS LEAGUE

Two teams, tied for first place, met this past Monday and the resulting game was a heart stopper.

The Haliburton ladies got off to a shaky start, allowing 4 runs in the first inning, while Gooderham kept them off the board for the first two innings. However, when Haliburton came alive in the third they scored 14 runs in 3 innings.

The visiting Gooderham team was not letting up these innings, scored 5 times themselves. The teams started the final inning 14-9. Gooderham rallied with a big team effort to score 6 runs. Haliburton came in for last bat down 1 run. They loaded the bases but could not score and the undefeated Gooderham team won it 15-14.

Jean Livingston was charged with her first loss of the season. Linda Berry got her second win in as many starts.

MEN'S SOFTBALL

Pitcher receives no support

Monday, June the 14th, found the Haliburton Huskies in Minden looking for their second victory of the season facing the Gull River Build-all boys. Such was not their destiny as they went down to a 15-5 defeat. Haliburton fell behind 12 runs in the first inning through no fault of starting pitcher Steve Wood.

The Huskies looked okay against the first batter with Tony Salvatore making the play to put him away. Then a horrendous number of infield errors allowed Gull River to accumulate an insurmountable lead. By the time Haliburton got it together, it was too late, even though they allowed only three more runs in the remaining nine innings while scoring five times.

FOND FAREWELL

A kingpin in the H.L.S.L. is leaving the area to head west to join her husband who is working out there. Star Gooderham pitcher, Joan Riel, has not only been a strong competitor in the league for many years, but a good sport and friend to all. We'll all miss her easy-going good natured presence and her team will not only miss her in their hearts, but also on the scoreboard. Good luck from all of us in the league Joan, where ever you may travel.

DEFENSE KEY

On Tuesday, June 15th, Minden met Gooderham in Minden in what turned out to be a very good defensive game. Minden pitcher Linda Berry retired seven of the first nine batters. Minden put three runs on the board, but this was just not good enough as Gooderham scored four runs and received excellent pitching from winner, Joan Riel.

It's of course, early for predictions but it is hard to conceive of Minden current champs dropping their first two decisions. Rather than say that Minden has deteriorated I would say that the quality of competition in the league has improved, and all teams seem, in these early stages, to be very competitive, promising an exciting season.

CARNARVON vs HALIBURTON

The Haliburton Ladies ball team, as yet unnamed, moved into first place last Thursday. Starting pitcher Nancy Maughan, as well as relievers Jean Livingston and Penny Bird, had their problems finding the corners of the plate, but the whole line-up was hitting consistently.

The Haliburton team had the game fairly well in hand until the seventh inning, when due to overconfidence and rookie insertions, they allowed the hardhitting Carnarvon Ranchers to score seven runs.

However, previous strong efforts from Bev. Hughey with 5 scores and Susan Little with four, allowed Haliburton to hang on to win 30-16.

Belinda Brown, going most of the way on the mound for the ranchers, was charged with her first loss.

BENEFIT

For a good evening's entertainment, plan to attend the benefit ballgame featuring two Haliburton Allstar Teams, Saturday, June 26th. All proceeds to go to injured player David Dollo. That goes at 7:00 p.m.

Riding delegates attend N.D.P. Annual Convention

The Ontario New Democratic Party held its annual convention this weekend in Kingston. Delegates from the Victoria-Haliburton Riding Association were Art Field, Ralph Hart, George Hughes and Fred McLaughlin.

Among the many resolutions dealt with were those dealing with tax incentives and support to businesses who wish to relocate in areas which are economically deprived in order to create jobs for the local people. Victoria-Haliburton delegate Fred McLaughlin spoke at the convention on the need for government to help create jobs in areas such as this riding. However he said that the risk the government takes should be rewarded with a percentage of the profits reverting back to the public purse. He brought out the need for some type of government control when public money is at stake. Too often these businesses leave the area when grants run out. Another point of concern was to ensure that government should encourage proper salaries so that workers are not taken advantage of because of geographic location. He stressed the need for the implementation of this type of policy for areas like Victoria-Haliburton so that young people can have employment in their immediate locality. This resolution was unanimously endorsed.

One of the lighter moments in the convention came when Stephen Lewis unveiled the mascot which the New Democrats will present to Mr. Smith, the Conservative Leader. This is a two-headed, push me, pull you, dog. This symbolizes the ability to make two simultaneous decisions which are in direct opposition to each other.

On Saturday, Mr. Lewis addressed the delegates concentrating the major part of his address on the basic issues of the last campaign which were denoted by the call letters H E L P. During that campaign the H stood for Housing. The only change is that the H will now stand for Health as well as Housing. The residents of the Victoria-Haliburton riding are all too familiar with the closing of health facilities in our constituency.

On Sunday, Ed Broadbent, Leader of the Federal New Democratic Party addressed the delegates. He reiterated Mr. Lewis' concerns of Saturday. Mr. Broadbent concentrated on the Anti-Inflation Board and brought out the fact that although inflation is a top priority which has expressed itself in food, energy and housing. Mr. Trudeau has been fit to exempt these from the control mechanism. Common sense tells us that action should have been taken in these areas but, of course, this would mean stepping on the toes of the food chains, oil companies and speculators. This is a no-no for the Liberals and Tories alike. Joe Clark and his Conservatives have consistently supported the government and its war against the working man. These two old parties, at the Provincial and Federal levels wear the same cap. Each uses its office to fill the pockets of its friends, the corporations. The New Democrats of Victoria-Haliburton strongly believe that there is only one alternative and that is to replace the government with the party which truly represents the working man of this nation - the NDP.

A more detailed report of the convention will be given at the annual meeting of the Victoria-Haliburton NDP Riding Association on June 22 at 8 p.m. in the Legion Hall in Lindsay. All interested parties of this constituency are invited to attend this meeting.

Pamphlet on poisoning available

There's a new Federal Government produced pamphlet on accidental poisoning and it's being made available to Canadians for free.

The pamphlet, called "Handle with Care", published by Health and Welfare Canada, points out that every year thousands of Canadians -- most of them children -- are accidentally poisoned.

Canadians are warned that any non-food substance, including medicine, is a potential poison if used improperly. It is extremely important to ensure that anything labelled "poison" be kept well out of the reach of curious children or absent minded adults.

The pamphlet elaborates on how to protect the family from poisoning and what to do in the event that someone has taken poison accidentally.

Moderate optimism seen for economy outlook

Ontario's economic outlook for the remainder of the year is 'moderately optimistic' states the 1975-76 Industry, Trade and Tourism Review published today by the Ontario Ministry of Industry and Tourism.

Claude Bennett, Minister, says that while the province today faces some critical economic realities, he sees 1976 in a light of optimism.

During 1975, Ontario's exports totalled $12.5 billion, an increase in value of $100 million over 1974. A $500 million growth in the value of end products - the sector which contains the bulk of Ontario's manufactured exports - was also noted.

Ontario's economic prosperity, the report states, depends largely on its export performance. In 1975, 20 per cent of the Gross Provincial Product was exported. Some 90 per cent of Ontario's exports go to two markets - the United States and the United Kingdom.

This year it is anticipated Ontario's economy may grow at a rate of four to six per cent. Economic recovery abroad, most notably in the U.S. and Japan, is expected to have a major stimulus to Canadian exports.

Rising personal disposable income will help maintain consumer expenditures. Business investment in plants, machinery and equipment is expected to be at least at 1975 levels.

Pre-tax corporate profits are expected to improve to a rate of 13 per cent, although the impact of the Anti-Inflation Board guidelines is still being weighed.

Despite an anticipated growth output, national unemployment figures are expected to deteriorate from the 7.1 per cent level of 1975.

Inflation is forecast at 9.5 per cent compared with 11 per cent last year.

Merchandise imports and exports are expected to balance, an improvement from the $800 million deficit recorded in 1975.

DIVISION OF INDUSTRY

In 1975 several major programs and studies were undertaken by the Division of Industry. One of the most significant was the publication of 13 industrial sector reports, written in co-operation between the Ministry and the various sectors.

Another new development was the Ontario Industrial Parks Program aimed at stimulating economic development in small growth communities and moving industrial development away from the major urban centres.

Throughout the year policies were developed in conjunction with the federal Foreign Investment Review Agency to maximize the benefits of foreign investments in Ontario.

DIVISION OF TRADE

The past year marked the successful completion of the Division of Trade mission program which introduced 361 Ontario companies to international markets. Forty trade missions visited a total of 50 countries with initial sales estimates totalling more than $21 million.

Some 620 Ontario companies were introduced to foreign buyers through the Division's international marketing branch, resulting in initial sales of $2 million.

Three exhibitions in the U.K. and one in Australia resulted in sales for Ontario firms of more than $2.5 million.

DIVISION OF TOURISM

Tourism in Ontario last year became a $2.6 billion industry with revenues from domestic and foreign sources.

The Development Corporations of Ontario increased tourism loans to $28 million and private lending institutions were encouraged to invest in Ontario's tourism industry.

The 12 travel associations in Ontario received an 11 per cent increase in financial assistance from the Ministry, resulting in an increased quality of regional tourism promotion.

A provincial tourism development plan was launched last year and this study will continue through 1976.

Other studies launched last year include the Renfrew County Visitor Attraction Study, the Muskoka Stream Attraction Study and the Cobalt-Timiskaming Area Attraction Study.

Municipal Noise

By-law approved

The Ontario Ministry of the Environment's Model Municipal Noise By-law has been approved in its final form by Environment Minister George Kerr for distribution to Ontario Municipalities.

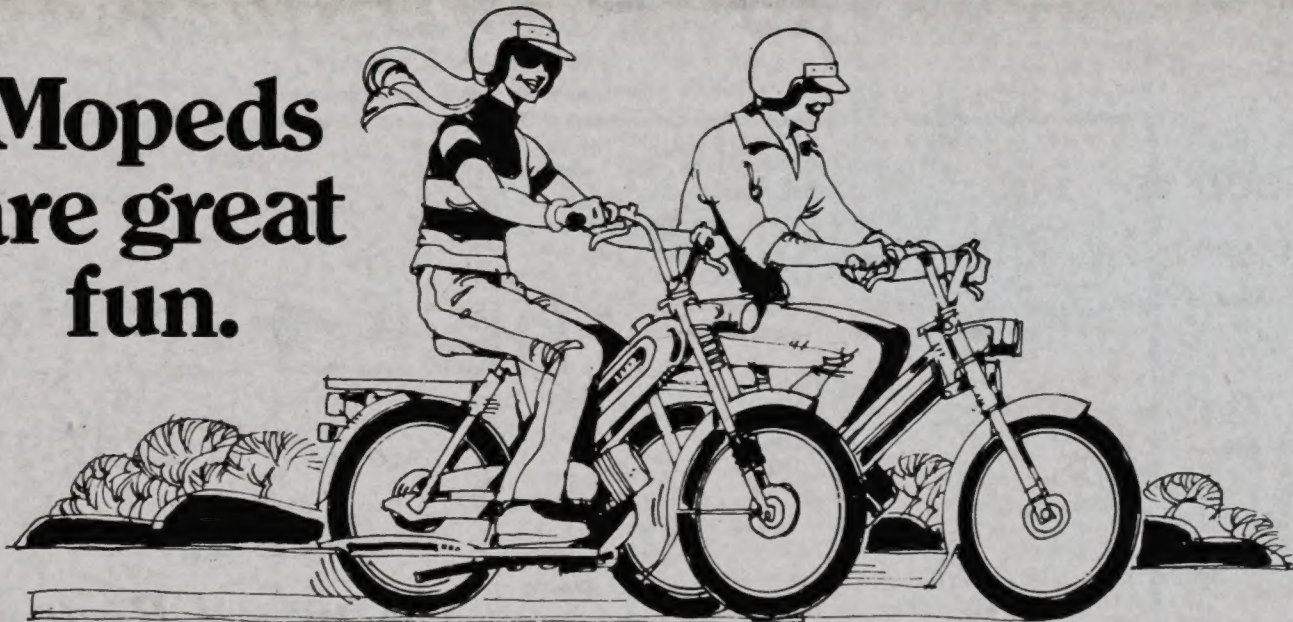

Municipalities can now adopt the model by-law to suit their own particular local noise situations. The Environmental Protection Act was amended last year to give municipalities the authority to control community noise levels. To date 20 large municipalities have shown interest in the new by-law.

The initial draft by-law was presented to municipal and industrial representatives as well as environmental groups in March 1975. After receiving submissions from these groups, a second draft was prepared and presented for further consideration.

"The third and final draft is the result of a lot of hard work and co-operation between my Ministry, municipalities and other interested parties," said Mr. Kerr. "It is my Ministry's intent to help municipalities in the adoption of the by-law and the training of municipal staff for enforcement in the field."

Environment Ontario began training courses on environmental acoustics technology and noise control in land use planning last September. Over 200 candidates have been trained during the first set of courses that ran from September to April. The courses, which are a week in duration, are designed for municipal officials, but members of the public may attend. The next courses are slated to begin in September of this year.

Mopeds are great fun.

This is what Ontario is doing to make sure they're safe fun.

Regulations governing the use of mopeds are fairly new to Ontario. But they are necessary because, with 30,000 mopeds on the road this year and a tragic record of 9 moped-riders killed in Ontario traffic last year, mopeds definitely must be -- and are -- considered as vehicles under The Highway Traffic Act.

The rules and regulations are simple:

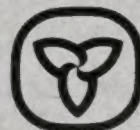

- Mopeds must not weigh over 120 pounds
- They must have operable pedals at all times
- Their speed must not exceed 30 miles per hour in one mile from a standing start
- They are prohibited from travelling on expressways
- Drivers must be 16 or older and have a valid Ontario driver's license or temporary instruction permit
- License plates are required, and cost $5.00
- Mopeds must be insured for public liability and property damage
- Helmets -- while not yet required -- are recommended

Hall's Lake news

Mrs. Hazel Welch spent the week in Kirkfield recently visiting with her cousin, Cora Dixon. Mrs. McGuire drove her down and made a call on the Imesons and then over to see her daughter Marilyn Anderson in Orangeville, making a pleasant weekend.

The Mann family of Montreal have arrived to spend three weeks at Alkamali Cottages owned by Mr. and Mrs. Al Rawlins here on the Lake. The Manns have been coming to the same place for several years and do not mind the long drive, but want to be back in Montreal before the big Olympic Games start.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Warner (Ruth and Bob) flew into Toronto from California recently and then drove to Hawk Lake to be guests of the Strouds for a few days.

A rainy Saturday disappointed many visitors but a beautiful sunny Sunday made up for it. The rain was gentle and needed so we must be grateful for that.

Mrs. Marjorie Watson had members of her family visiting her for a few days from the Orangeville area.

This will be a busy week at Hyland Crest with the Seniors' Week activities. We have just heard that an organ has been procured, so everyone will be anxious to hear it. We also have been advised that the Pot Luck Supper which the Auxiliary was planning on for next Monday evening has been laid over until the opening Fall meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. George Holliday of Mount Forest drove home for the week-end and left at 4 a.m. Monday to drive back for work. They find early morning driving much nicer than the Sunday evening rush on the busy highways.

Fathers' Day was spent in various ways - most fathers received some cards and gifts and telephone calls from those away from home. One father who makes lovely home made bread and pies and doughnuts receiving two spanking new gingham aprons, hand-made by his daughter! Now that was a thoughtful and appreciated gift if ever there was one!

Several Hall's Lake ladies have gone strawberry picking at the Robertson Century Farm today. They are industrious and thrifty women who make delicious jam for their pantry shelf.

Good to hear the capacity congregation at Carnarvon United yesterday. Rev. James Bushell will be leaving shortly to take up his new Charge at Ripley, not too far from Goderich, which is a nice part of the country too.

UIC prosecution

A Peterborough woman, Carm Berardi, was found guilty of fraud in connection with her unemployment insurance claim for benefit. Berardi, although not unemployed, set up a fraudulent claim for benefits.

Judge R.B. Batten sentenced the accused to a jail term not exceeding 2 months to be followed by probation for a period of 2 years, the terms of which being restitution in the amount of $4043. be paid to the Commission within a period of six months from the 10 June, 1976.

Judge Batten also found Berardi guilty in setting up another claim for fraudulent purposes, causing an overpayment of $2457. to be also repaid to the Commission.

Just heard of a Sunday accident somewhere up this highway yesterday. Cars are still speeding, despite the new laws. Some never slow up, even in a built-up area.

Carolyn MacDonald spent several days last week down in Burlington and her daughter and grandson from Burlington came to spend the week up here with the family. Little John is quite a talker now and they get a real charge out of him.

Mr. Walter Izzard from Toronto is again in residence at his pleasant summer home. He was Head Gardener at a big Park in Toronto for years and flowers are his hobby.

The Scinoca family arrived to spend the last two week-ends at their cottage on Peack Lake. They are always very interested in attending Summer plays while up here during the holiday months and have already picked up the brochure put out by the Road Show Theatre Company advertising the four excellent comedies, starting July 5th at the Haliburton High School.

Dr. Vern Tidey's youngest daughter Susan, just recently married in Dundas, has been at the Tidey cottage for a brief stay.

Archie and Ruth Neil brought up a great quantity of flowering shrubs and plants to put in at their cottage garden on Kushog Lake. They have had great luck with vegetables and Ruth does some canning while on holidays at the Lake. A deep freeze tucked away in a corner has paid off in keeping their table supplied with fresh goodies.

Mrs. Luther Wilson was lucky on the last Wintario Draw - just $25.00 but it helps to buy more tickets. This next Draw is one of the most popular ones yet and carloads of people were cruising around on the week-end just waiting to buy tickets and nearly everyone is sold out.

Mr. Eakins' page in the last local paper was certainly interesting. He seems to be hammering away on current issues which involve the Highlands of Haliburton and asking why certain things are allowed to be. It seems to take a long time to get the right answers but if he keeps asking long enough someone will have to come up with the right ones.

Glad to see the work crews' picture in the paper last week - hope they can get rid of some of the dead bare trees which are a blot on the landscape of this lovely country.

Tom Montgomery is staying at their cottage with his grandmother for a holiday before starting his Summer's job at the store. Cleaning up the beach and painting up the porches is part of his recreation.

Audio Library taping unit

Peterborough - A downtown taping unit for the audio library program of Trent University has been established at All Saints' Anglican Church in Peterborough.

The unit will help the program to continue serving blind and otherwise handicapped students in post-secondary education at universities and colleges in Ontario. It opened May 13 and closes Sept. 10.

Stewart Hayter, program supervisor, said that Kathy Watters, of Peterborough, a Trent student, will supervise the downtown unit.

Volunteers are still needed badly, he added. The downtown taping unit eliminates the need for volunteers to find transportation to the campus.

MacDonald acclaimed President

At the Dominion Convention of the Royal Canadian Legion held in the Winnipeg Convention Centre, Winnipeg, Man., June 13-17, Doug MacDonald of Ajax, Ont. was unopposed in his bid for the highest office in Legion. Ed

Caley of Edmonton was elected 1st Vice President on the third ballot. The new Convention Centre in downtown Winnipeg is a credit to the city, and with this, its largest convention to date, had its facilities tested to the extreme.

The Convention was officially opened on Sunday afternoon by the President, Bob McChesney, of Kirkland Lake, Ont. and the Torch, whose flame had been carried by runners from Victoria, B.C. and St. John's Nfld. was lit by our Honorary President, Gen. Geo. Pearkes, V.C. The Torch burned throughout the convention and thousands of people had their photo taken beneath it. We hope to have some convention pictures to publish at a later date. There were slightly more than 5000 Accredited delegates present and with Observers and wives over 9000 people were registered. A great many resolutions were dealt with, some swiftly and others only after much heated debates. The most lively issue was Membership, the vote for the Associate and after much discussion and debate from both East and West, city and rural branches the resolution to put this matter in the hands of each Provincial Command was roundly defeated. In his first address as President Mr. MacDonald asked our Associate members to bear with us, to continue the good work they are now doing, watch and learn because although their day is not yet it is coming. He would have them remember that we who now hold office were in the same position when we returned from World War II, and it took time then just as it is now. On Wednesday evening the banquet was held in the Convention Hall for all delegates and wives. The Manitoba Command had been previously asked to sit at tables set up on the main floor as there just was not enough room in the Hall. As it was over 8000 people were seated there and it was a most impressive sight to enter the Hall and be confronted by this sea of beautifully laid tables. The dinner was delicious and the service excellent. It was a well organized evening. At the dance which followed one of our comrades, Ed Desjardines, of Kingston, Ont.

suffered a fatal heart attack. His wife, who is first vice president Ontario Command, Ladies Auxiliary was attending the Convention in the place of the President Jean Dumachelle of Windsor, whose husband had been killed in a car accident the previous week.

A great deal of work had gone into the hospitality being offered by the Legion Branches in Winnipeg and everyone who visited them had a wonderful time.

Back at home, we would remind everyone of Legion Week coming up, June 27 to July 3. Tuesday evening June 29, is Awards Night and we would like all members and wives to attend along with the members of the Auxiliary and their husbands and friends.

Thursday night is Open House when we extend a hearty welcome to everyone to visit us for an evening of fellowship and games. There are prizes to be won. Friday evening the Branch members will be serving dinner to our Associates and Fraternal members, and this will be followed by an evening of dancing.

WINTARIO

The Honourable Robert Welch, Minister of Culture and Recreation, speaking recently in an estimates committee, sought to clarify his ministry's allocations of Wintario funds.

In response to queries from both N.D.P. and Liberal critics, Mr. Welch stated that funds from Wintario are intended "to promote and to encourage cultural and recreational objectives and they're not intended to relieve the responsibility of on-going government programs in this field. They are not a substitution for tax support."

While Wintario has been a bigger success than originally anticipated, to use these funds to support government programs such as health care would establish a dangerous precedent. Future proceeds may not always be as plentiful and to fund ongoing programs without dependence on a continuous cash flow could be disastrous in terms of orderly priority-setting. A short fall in actual receipts would require diversion of funds from other programmes or projects.

The Minister further commented that "the entire net proceeds of Wintario would operate the Ministry of Health for less than a week."

Civil servants granted 13.86 per cent raise

TORONTO -- for the second time in less than a week an arbitration board has awarded pay increases to Ontario Government employees which exceed the guidelines established by the Anti-Inflation Act.

Professor Kenneth P. Swan of the Faculty of Law, Queen's University, has awarded increases averaging 13.86 per cent to the 4,900 employees in the Administrative Services category.

The previous average salary for the diverse bargaining group, which includes most government inspectors and investigators, tax auditors, property assessors and social program field workers, was $262.35 per week. The employees are represented by the Ontario Public Service Employees Union.

The increase is made up of an across-the-board raise of seven per cent plus $18 a week. The raise is retroactive to the expiry date of the previous collective agreement which is October 1, 1975 for the majority of employees and January 1, 1976 for the remainder.

Professor Swan's award is only slightly below the 14 per cent average increase awarded the Technical Services Category of the Ontario public service last week by Professor G.J. Brandt, a constitutional law professor at the University of Western Ontario.

Prof. Brandt refused to consider the federal wage guidelines in his ruling, arguing that the agreement between the Ontario and federal governments, which subjected Ontario public sector employees to the wage control legislation was unconstitutional.

Prof. Swan did not rule on the constitutionality of the federal-provincial agreement because the Supreme Court of Canada is currently considering that issue. He did state, however, that he was "at a loss to see how the legislation in any way amends our jurisdiction as established under the Crown Employees Collective Bargaining Act."

And he stated that the Anti-Inflation legislation itself does not contemplate that arbitration boards would be bound by the guidelines.

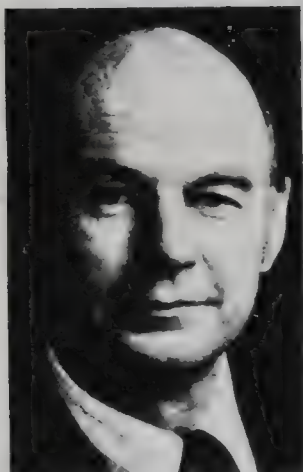

Charles Darrow, president of the 60,000 member union, said he has asked for immediate and full implementation of the arbitration award.

"We went to arbitration under the Crown Employees Collective Bargaining Act which states clearly that arbitration shall be final and binding on both parties."

"I don't believe the cabinet -- by order-in-council -- has a right to amend a law passed by the legislature," Darrow said.

OPSEU joined other unions in arguing before the Supreme Court of Canada that the federal-provincial agreement is unconstitutional. A ruling is expected in the early summer.

Banker sees stronger economic recovery

will succeed relatively quickly so that the undoubted benefits of enterprise and initiative can be restored to the Canadian scene."

Mr. Boyle, succeeded at the meeting as president by Rowland C. Frazee, executive vice-president and chief general manager, The Royal Bank of Canada, also:

— Forecast that Canada's economic recovery will gain momentum for the rest of the year.

— Reported that bank lending for home buyers, farmers and consumers all showed increases of more than 20 per cent over a year earlier.

— Said Canadian banks are universally recognized as sound, strengthening their key role in the financing of Canada's vital export trade.

— Said more than 12,000 bank employees, over half of them women, are taking courses through the Institute of Canadian Bankers, the CBA educational division.

— Reported that the 10 chartered banks, with assets of more than $109 billion, have close to 132,000 employees in 7,085 domestic and 271 foreign offices.

Commenting on proposals made to the federal finance minister for the next revision of the Bank Act, the basic legislation governing the operations of the chartered banks, Mr. Boyle said the Canadian financial system has many strengths which must not be lost by a retreat to earlier outmoded concepts and attitudes.

The banking industry urges a continuation of progress towards an open and competitive financial system and "this approach, we feel, is eminently sound, reasonable and in the national interest."

"Our main proposals would only bring other institutions under the same regime as the banks."

"They would place no further restrictions on these organizations, either in developing their own specialties or in making further inroads into the banking business. Nor have we asked for any major extension of powers for the banks."

Sainte-Marie among the Hurons Historical Park opens for summer

When the Jesuits came to Ontario in 1626, their initial reaction to the Huron Indians, according to the Jesuit Relations, was one of disgust. The natives thrived on the bizarre, the shocking, and the repulsive, they said. Clearly, the Jesuit conception of what a civilized society should be was not to be found in Huronia.

But before they had made such value judgments, the Jesuits and their fellow Frenchmen should have taken a closer look at the Huron system of government. To call it democratic would be to place too modern a description on their system, yet certain freedoms that were guaranteed to Huron tribesmen of the 1600's were non-existent in the "civilized" Europe of the time.

The Hurons recognized and enforced, among others, the right of liberty and security, the right of free choice of religion, the right of ownership of property and dignity, and above all, the right to refuse to accept any official decision of their village councils as binding.

The latter principle even applied in the case of murder. It was not the rule to directly punish a guilty person, since this would be assuming a jurisdiction over that person which no one would ever think of claiming. Gifts meant to "cover the death" were offered to the grieving party instead.

The Huron councils were composed of chiefs chosen for their wisdom in decision making, skill in oratory, and their liberality. A chief could be removed from his position at any time if he failed to meet these qualifications.

The civil councils were sombre affairs, where good judgment, logic and fairness were the watchwords. The Jesuits began to take note. Said Father Jean de Brebeuf: "I was particularly astonished at the wise conduct of the councils."

And he should have been astonished. While the French and Jesuit missionaries railed against the "barbaric customs" of the natives, those same critics were citizens of a country that was ruled by an autocratic King and a church that tolerated its own religion and outlawed all others.

Samuel de Champlain was a good representative of French thinking of that period. He was an unquestioning supporter of the French crown, and he judged very harshly any type of government or legal system that was different than those in France. He dreamed of the day when the Hurons would live like Frenchmen.

The Jesuits held the same aspirations. One reason behind the construction of the Sainte-Marie mission residence was to show the Hurons, as much as conditions permitted, what life was like in France.

They showed the Hurons how nails were made. They showed them their ovens and their cooking methods. The mission, in existence from 1639 to 1649, has been recreated as Sainte-Marie among the Hurons, and is open to the public every day this summer from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Visitors to the site will see costumed craftsmen performing their duties around the mission, such as carpentry, cooking and blacksmithing, or see a Jesuit priest walking through the grounds just as the Hurons would have seen it in 1640.

Conversion of the Hurons to Christianity was therefore not the sole aim of the Jesuits. The Hurons, they hoped, would also become model Frenchmen.

The missionaries also showed the Hurons their religion. Some accepted the Jesuit beliefs, as was their choice as a Huron; but many others rejected them, as was also their choice.

But in Europe, such choices were not available. Religious persecution was rampant. The witch-hunts that began in the 1400's were to last another hundred years, leaving over 400,000 people dead in their wake.

Even the new English colony in Virginia could not lay claim to as free a system as the Hurons. In 1619, the first representative assembly in North America was formed in Jamestown. But slaves from Africa arrived that same year.

Ironically, it was the democratic nature of Huron laws that would in part be responsible for their expulsion from Huronia in 1650. Victims of vicious trade wars with the Iroquois, their decision-making structure was too slow to cope with outside threats.

The last full-blooded Huron died on March 29, 1829. In the 1640's, their population numbered over 30,000.

Entering the first turn at the north end of Head Lake at Sundays power boat regatta.

Some had to paddle back to the pits.

Winning drivers in the Grand Prix event.

Rotary Beach provided an excellent pit area for the boats.

Boats were lifted out of the water to be started and then dropped in by the crew once the engine was running.

What a day for a race

Ma Nature didn't smile down on the races Saturday, but she provided near perfect weather for Sunday, and all the ingredients were there to provide spectators with lots of entertainment for the day. The roar of the modified engines, the odour of burning alcohol and lots of beautiful ladies lent excitement to the big event.

There were entries from all over Ontario and Quebec.

Only two spills occurred with no injuries resulting. This is surprising when one watched the boats sliding and bouncing around the corners and seeing only the sterns in contact with the water at 60 to 70 m.p.h. in the straight-aways. One driver destroyed the bottom end of his expensive German made Konig racing engine when he struck a piece of floating driftwood in the lake.

The stock entries used straight from the factory engines with no modifications whatsoever.

The "A" and "B" division "Racing" Hydros had anything goes modifications. These were the earsplitting numbers with the three foot megaphones protruding from the rear. These motors were revving at close to 12,000 rpm's and burning 77 ethyl alcohol.

The large crowd in attendance, stretching from the Rotary Beach all the way down to the information caboose, had all the sun and fun they could handle and at bargain rates.

The Regatta dance at the Legion Hall Saturday night with music provided by our own "County Down" was a rocking success and, I might add, it was nice to see the organizers keep the price of admission easily within everyone's reach.

The men who took the medals and the money home were:

"A" & "B" Racing Hydro

1. Paul Guerin, #98 Toronto
2. Greg Hall, #153 Scarborough
3. Dan Davis, #168 Toronto

"A" Stock Hydro

1. Ron France, #7 Rexdale
2. John Webster #12 Scarborough
3. Mike Werner, #241 Dunnville

"B" Stock Hydro

1. John Webster, #12 Scarborough
2. Larry Burns, #48 Acton
3. Tom Davies, #62 Norval

"C" Stock Hydro

1. Ernie Wilson, #198 Ingersoll
2. Alan Smith, #78 London
3. Josef Frank, #100 Toronto

"D" Stock Hydro

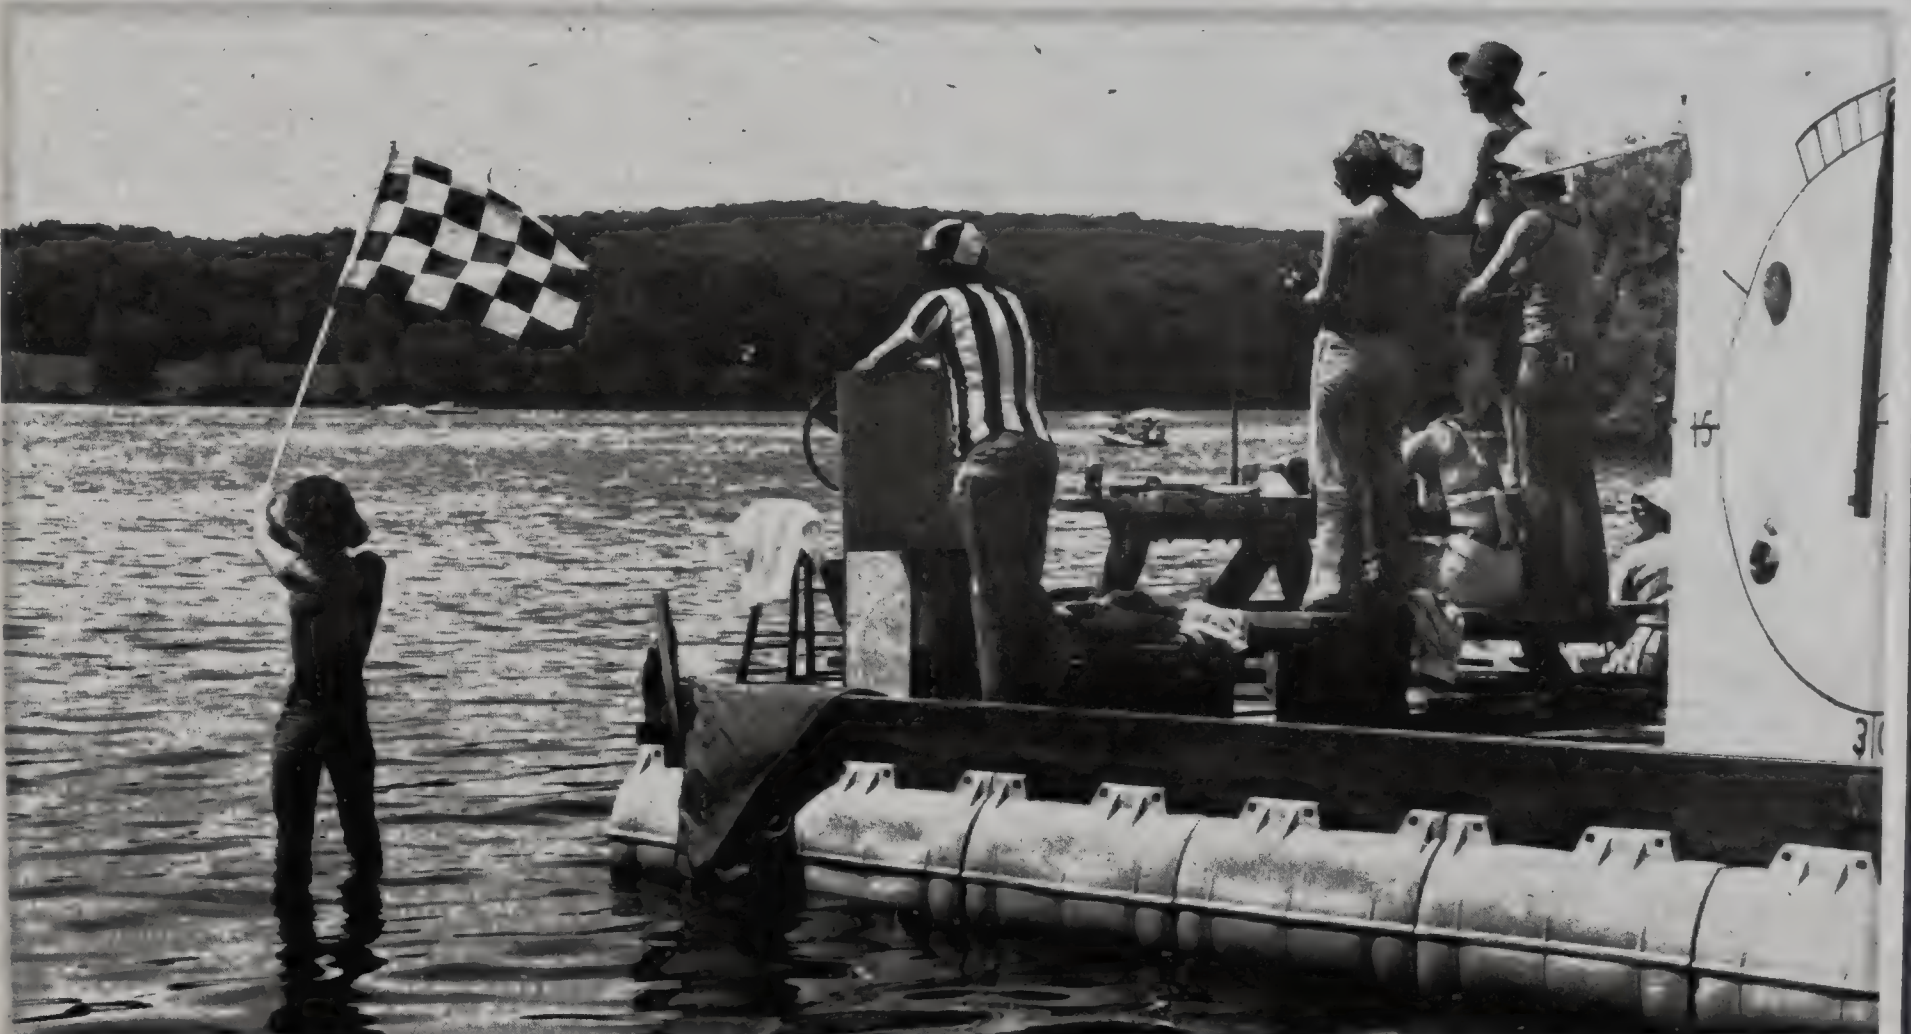

1. Jim McDonald, #113 Mississauga
2. Steve Wells, #138 London
3. Frank Mohl, #90 Toronto

GRAND PRIX

1. Roy Alexander, #90 Toronto
2. Jim McDonald, #113 Mississauga
3. Paul Gverin, #98 Toronto

Pit crews were kept busy as drivers entered various boats in the races.

Officials keep a wary eye on racers as the flag man prepares to give the checkered flag.

News from Extendicare

by Charles Plewman

If a man is hurt in a street accident, an ambulance comes quickly, but if he is broken in spirit, demoralized, afraid - little is done - yet this person may be in far greater need of the ambulance than the other.

It may seem a little early for a Barbecue and its true that this was the first one ever, for Extendicare. Undaunted by the possibility of either hot or cold weather, Miriam Lewis went right ahead with her plans. Friday the 18th finally arrived - at first it seemed a little cool but as the morning wore on it turned out sunny and warm. Considering the age and limitations of the group of 60 oldsters, the whole affair could easily have fallen flat on its face. Instead it was a great success - credit must be given to the staff who turned in a great job. Now a barbecue for 4 or 5 is just that, but setting up tables, chairs and dishes for 60 disabled "shut-ins" is a dog of a different colour. The menu consisted of hot dogs, with lots of relish, a salad, fruit punch and ice cream. Dr. R.H. Heyes, who happened to be around, got into the act and demolished his share of hot dogs and ice-cream. Four residents, Margaret McKay, Jake Gill, Bill Clattenburg and Stuart Belisle helped in the setting and clearing up.

Following the Barbecue, about 60 boys and girls from Grade 4, H.H.S.E. School choir entertained us. Ray Johnson played the guitar and led the choir, which was of a high order. Mrs. Nancy Sales and Ray deserve a lot of credit in training them. Mr. C.F. Plewman assisted on the mouth organ.

Miss Sheila Elston has been attending a Conference of Extendicare Administrators at Niagara-on-the-Lake during the past three days.

Friday's Devotional Service was taken by Pastor G.C. Rosch of the Full Gospel Light House. He spoke of God's love for all people, irrespective of whether that love was returned. Miss Sandy Rosch did an excellent job at the piano.

Mrs. Welch's class at Victoria Street School stage a whimsical play at the Centre. They demonstrated clearly that they had been well coached.

"Civilization is just the slow process of learning to love."

Iselin, age 70, of Parma, Ohio. According to O.P.P. Constable Bob Rollins of the Minden Detachment, the investigating officer, the three vehicles were all travelling northbound on Highway 35, about three miles south of Kinmount Road when a car driven by Marjorie MacMinn, age 43, of Minden and the Iselin car

Minden W.I. hold Luncheon Meeting

Thirty one members and several guests enjoyed the Minden Women's Institute June 16th meeting at the Orange Hall. The Pot Luck Buffet had a festive appearance and all partook of the salads, meats, desserts and cup of tea after Mrs. S. Blears had said Grace.

After the meal was cleared away the Pres. Mrs. L. Cox called the meeting to order. During the Roll Call, we found who had our name for their Secret Pal during the past year. New programmes were handed out and a donation is to be made to Mrs. Lewis Stevens for her own project for her excellent work in setting these up.

Mrs. A. Taylor had been busy sending out 30 cards during the past month. Don't forget to let her know during the next several months for cards to be sent.

There was a report regarding our Branch sponsoring the School Prize List and judging will be done on the entries on June 28th, with Mrs. W. Locke one of the judges.

A letter of resignation was received from Secretary, Mrs. Windsor, as she is moving to Lindsay. Mrs. L. Cox made presentation of a little gift to remind her of her association with our Branch.

After some discussion Mrs. W. MacArthur agreed to serve as Secretary for the rest of this year.

Mrs. Cox announced that the Victoria East District Tea is to be held at Bobcaygeon Legion Hall, October 21st.

The Collections were taken for the card fund and Pennies for friendship and expenses for this meeting are to come from the general fund.

Slips had been passed around regarding the Fall Bus Trip and this will be to Parry Sound, October 6th with more details to be given later. Mrs. Sears read an amusing verse "The Burglar and the Old Maid."

It was decided not to have a Summer Bazaar as everyone is busy with visitors. New Secret Pal names were taken by those wishing them so some have these for another year with Mrs. Angus Coulter in charge; so if you lost yours already, just call her.

MEETING 2

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. A. Todd on September 15th at 2 p.m. with anyone wishing a ride meet at the Post Office at 1:30.

All newcomers are welcome to come out and enjoy our meetings. God Save the Queen brought this meeting to a close.

YOUR

In Ontario we have taken pure, clean water for granted all our lives. So it's a real shock to realize that we just can't trust untreated drinking water anymore.

With all our lovely lakes and bright, sparkling rivers and deep, cool wells we have to be concerned about invisible little disease-causing bacteria that could be in any untreated water in Ontario.

How can you protect yourself and your family? Can you be sure your drinking water is 100% safe? Yes—with a Super Sterasyl water purifier.

Haliburton Highlights

The Haliburton girls softball team defeated the girls from Minden in the first scheduled softball game played recently. Both teams played well in the game played at the Haliburton Highland Senior Elementary School ball diamond.

The Haliburton Pioneer Museum which is located on Park Street near the Rotary Beach announces its open hours for the summer months. Open daily 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. July 1 to Labour Day, weekends only after Labour Day to Thanksgiving. Admission is adults 50c and Children 25c.

The Gooderham Softball team played in Minden on Tuesday, June 15 and defeated Minden by the close score of 4-3. The winning pitcher was Joan Riel.

Have trouble getting all your picnic supplies into your energy-saving compact car? J.L. Loewen of Altona, Manitoba has designed a picnic table that solves your problem. Essentially like any picnic table when set up, it can be folded to a package only a few inches deep without using any tools. The table's components, although similar to conventional models, are of tubular design, so they pivot and slide on each other. A detailed description of this novel invention can be found in Canadian Patent 970,021.

Haliburton was a busy spot over the weekend with everyone here for the Regatta. Even though it rained on Saturday forcing postponement until Sunday of the Regatta, large crowds were in town both days.

A Canadian Red Cross Summer Safety Tip: Accidents to children can happen more quickly than you think. On the beach and in the water, keep an eye on children every minute. A child out of sight or out of hearing may be a dead child.

At the Haliburton County Echo we are always looking for your opinion through the Letters to the Editor column so if you have a letter please get it into us, but be sure that you sign your name.

To conform to revised Canadian electrical standards, trailer electrical outlets at 25 Ontario Provincial Park campgrounds will be converted to a new style this year, Minister of Natural Resources Leo Bernier announced today.

"We are planning to make the changeover as painless as possible for trailer owners who still have the old style. Parks will loan out converter plugs to campers on request" said Mr. Bernier.

In this country of countless lakes and rivers, our summer season naturally finds thousands of vacationers enjoying the pleasures of water sport and aquatic recreation. For those on holiday at the cottage, beach or resort, the pleasure boat can become as important as the family car. Indeed, Canadians each year make use of approximately one million leisure crafts from canoes and sailboats to large yachts.

Arbitration board awards raise to civil servants

TORONTO -- An arbitration board chaired by Prof. G.J. Brandt has awarded 4,900 Ontario civil servants in the technical services category a one-year collective agreement with wage increases of $20 per week plus a compounded percentage increase of 5 per cent.

The award, which averages 14.4 per cent, is retroactive to September 30 1975 for about three-quarters of the employees, and to December 31, 1975 for the remainder. The employees, members of the Ontario Public Service Employees Union (OPSEU) had a previous average salary of $223.08 a week.

Brandt, a constitutional law professor at the University of Western Ontario, ruled last March when the dispute first came before the arbitration board that he would not be bound by the federal wage controls.

At that time, Brandt said the controls, in his opinion, were unconstitutional because the federal-provincial contract which subjected Ontario public sector employees to wage controls had not been submitted to the Legislature for approval.

Last week OPSEU joined other unions in arguing before the Supreme Court of Canada that the Ottawa-Queen's Park agreement was invalid. A ruling is expected early this summer.

"Hot lines" handle 2,500 calls in year

More than 2,500 calls were made last year to the "hot lines" set up by the life insurance industry to handle complaints and queries about life insurance.

Clair Finn on the English hot line.

Clair Finn, the man at the end of the English-language hot line says: "In 1975 we had more and more opportunities to deal in some detail with specific queries and to communicate more meaningfully with the life insurance buyer or prospective buyer."

Charles Darrow, president of the 60,000-member union, said OPSEU has asked the government to implement the full amount of the award immediately.

"We went to arbitration under terms set out in the Crown Employees collective bargaining Act (CECBA) which was passed by the Ontario Legislature and clearly states that arbitration shall be final and binding on both parties.

I don't believe the cabinet -- by attempting to tie Ontario to the federal wage controls program through an order-in-council has the right to usurp a law passed by the legislature," Darrow said.

CECBA lays down the bargaining rights of government employees. It also prohibits them from taking strike action and provides for compulsory arbitration as the final and binding solution to contract disputes.

Darrow pointed out that most of the technical service employees -- who include draftsmen, lab technicians, forest rangers and meat inspectors -- have been without a contract for 8½ months.

"If the government insists on submitting this award to the Anti-Inflation Board, then the employees could be denied their wage increase for as long as a year," Darrow said.

"Yet, under the law, we have to start negotiating next year's agreement in a few weeks' time. This would mean that we would be trying to bargain for next year's wages before our members know how much of this year's increase they will be allowed to keep.

"I'm sure our members would never tolerate such a fundamental denial of justice," Darrow added.

"It's just another proof of how governments in this country seem to be determined to sabotage the whole process of collective bargaining. It can only have the result that the labour movement predicted last October -- a massive frustration and resentment based on the conviction that the fight against inflation is to be fought solely on the backs of the workers."

The Brandt award was the first settlement in eight different category wage disputes in the Ontario public service. Darrow said the other seven disputes have been heard by arbitration boards, and awards are expected in the near future.

About 14,000 civil servants, including the 4,900 in Technical Services, are in categories whose contracts have a September 30 expiry date. The remaining 38,000 belong to categories whose last contract expired December 31.

Junior Farmers from the United Kingdom

The Victoria County Junior Farmers are again acting as hosts for two young farmers from the United Kingdom from June 18th until July 2nd. Kenneth Brooks from Aberdeen, Scotland and Jane Nixon from Herefordshire, England will be spending some time with Victoria County Junior Farmers families. Kenneth Brooks will be spending some time first with the Jack Callaghan family at R.R. 1, Reaboro, and then will be moving to the home of Winston Anderson, R.R. 3, Bobcaygeon. Jane Nixon will be living with the family of Victor Coulter, R.R. 1, Bobcaygeon, and then moving to the farm of Steve Winn, R.R. 4, Ome-mee.

Between June 16th and September 21st, there are 10 young people from England, Scotland and Northern Ireland visiting the Province of Ontario as guests of the Ontario Junior Farmer Association. It is an opportunity for the Ontario hosts to meet with these young people and learn about farming in other countries and it provides a chance for the delegates to see Ontario agriculture.

4-H Regional Conference Between June 29th and

July 1st, fourteen 4-H members from the Victoria County area will be attending Regional 4-H Conference at Trent University in Peterborough. In total, 100 4-H'ers from Victoria County through to Lennox & Addington Counties will be attending the three-day conference that provides an opportunity to meet other 4-H'ers, discuss leadership qualities of 4-H members, and to take part in other interesting exercises.

Delegates from Victoria include: Hollie Carew, #2, Cameron; Brad Bowen, #1, Little Britain; John DeVos, #1, Oakwood; Mike Blake #1, Woodville; Paul Keeler, #1, Woodville; Carrie Darling, #1, Ome-mee; Dennis Drinkwater, #3, Bobcaygeon; Steve Callaghan, #1, Reaboro; Steve English, #5, Lindsay; Bernard Clancy, #5, Lindsay; Grace Robertson, #3, Little Britain; Brian Neale, #1, Lindsay; Lori Pierce, #2, Little Britain; and Janet White, #5, Lindsay.

Making Hay

Legumes out at the early bud stage and grasses cut before heading have the highest level of protein and digestibility, and at this early stage are very palatable to the livestock. True, delaying the harvest will result in a yield increase - an increase in quantity not quality.

Cutting date is extremely critical to harvest high protein forages. Protein in pure alfalfa stands will be approximately 20% on a dry basis in the late bud stage; it can drop to 15% protein at the full bloom stage in just two weeks time. Early cutting will lower yield of the first crop, but its feeding value and intake by the cow will be greater. Furthermore, early cutting usually means higher aftermath yields. Early cutting is also the best way to combat the alfalfa weevil.

Another critical factor in making hay or haylage is harvest losses. Because the leaves of alfalfa contain 70% of the protein, it is very important that they be harvested. When making haylage, harvest losses increase as the moisture percentage of the haylage decreases. Using a screened or covered wagon can help you store all of the protein rich leaves which have been grown.

When making haylage, the length of cut is very important for proper ensiling. Often there is too much length - from 1-4 inches - set the harvester to give 1/4" cut and don't use a recutter. At least 75% of the material in the forage box should be 1" or less in length or it won't pack properly in the silo. Forage cut finer than that stores well, but doesn't encourage proper rumen action in cattle.

EVENTS THIS WEEK

June 24 - Crop Tour - 7:02 p.m. - Starts at Jim & Bill Walker's, #1 Lindsay and ends at Bob Dykstra's #2, Little Britain.
June 29 - July 1 - Regional 4-H Conference at Trent University.

Credit Travels From Woodlot To Your Home

Taking a hypothetical case, the wooden chair in which you are seated has a history of credit which probably began in a Canadian forest.

Making a chair from a tree involves a number of farming, transport and inventory operations all of which call for credit. In furniture production this means that credit is necessary to finance such operations as sawing, distribution and inventory of the raw material - unsawn timber and lumber.

You think of your chair as a piece of furniture. Would you even consider it as a growing tree which has undergone change and been subjected to financial transactions 20 times over to create its present form?

That chair began as raw timber in a leased woodlot from the Government. The company which leased the timber rights did so by using credit because leasing is a form of credit. Roads into the timber lot were built with financial assistance. And, similarly, equipment to harvest the wood and transfer it to storage involved credit. The credits were provided either by financial institutions or through sales of bonds in the marketplace.

Today, millions of dollars are loaned to companies like wood processing concerns. Loans are also required to meet payrolls and to finance storage charges for wood which may not be processed for years. Lumbering operations in Canada depend upon credit to transport materials from woodlots to storage, and finally on to the mill. Similarly, inventory loans help bridge the gap between the time the timber is stored until it becomes cut lumber at the mill.

(In 1974, 13.5 billion feet of sawed lumber were processed in Canada. The country also produced 21.4 million tons of pulpwood which went into the paper which carries these words.)

Take the production of your chair several steps further. Transporting the wood from the mill to the furniture manufacturer involves credit to lease and operate trucks. When the wood is delivered to storage locations, credit in the form of inventory loans finances the storage of; (a) raw materials; (b) goods in process; and (c) final goods inventory. It is also essential to help pay wages and salaries of storage company employees.

The chair is completed but the credit process continues. Loans are required to ship the chair to the wholesaler or retailer - and again to help finance payrolls and storage until the chair is sold. Retailers as well as wholesalers need inventory credit to help pay storage for items waiting to be sold. Credit therefore may be considered as the lubricant that helps the process from formation of your chair, from tree to finished product.

At the retailing stage, you, the purchaser of that chair make your decision. Use credit or purchase with cash. If you choose to pay over time, instead of all at once your purchase credit becomes the final link in a long series of important credit-granting operations.

Canadians are spending 5.3 per cent more per year on household equipment and furniture (not including appliances). This figure in absolute dollars, is based upon Statistics Canada, National Income and Expenditure Accounts 1961 - 1972, and appears in a recent Canadian Consumer Credit Factbook, published by the Canadian Consumer Loan Association and the Federated Council of Sales Finance Companies.

In 1975 data from the industry showed that, $1.3 billion of business was transacted in retail sales in furniture and appliance stores in Canada. Of this amount substantial sums involved consumer credit either through direct consumer loans or through sales finance companies.

This purchase credit you possibly used to buy the chair in which you sit is vitally important to you. But in the overall view of production activity, it is only one of many forms of credit which helped to bring that single piece of furniture out of the forest and into your home.

Bahamian island might hold clue to lost continent of Atlantis

BIMINI, Bahamas — Massive, square-jointed stones looming up like the tumbled remains of a mighty wall from the clear waters near this island resort raises the question: Can this series of seemingly man-made blocks represent the discovery of an archaeological site as mysterious and intriguing as Stonehenge?

Dr. David Zink, a literary historian and professor of English at Lamar University in Texas who led a research expedition to Bimini last summer, believes the stones are evidence of a megalithic site of great antiquity and that there are indications of a "sacred geometry" similar to that which has been suggested by recent studies of Stonehenge in England.

Although he does not yet make the assertion, Dr. Zink's ultimate hypothesis is that the huge, algae-covered slabs are identifiable relics of the legendary lost continent of Atlantis. He theorizes that the site, known locally as the Bimini "Road", can be fitted into a pattern of similar megalithic sites around the world to indicate the existence of a high civilization on earth before the dawn of recorded history.

Fanciful as it may sound, the Atlantean myth is an idea that has persisted in the human mind down the centuries and which has been treated in more than 3,000 books beginning with the classical Greek philosopher, Plato.

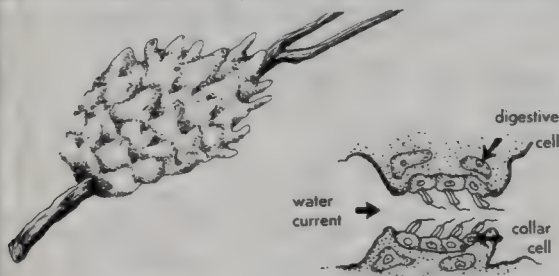

From the air the Bimini Road looks like a vague, elongated horseshoe in the crystal-clear Bahamian waters. On the sea-bed the current has uncovered whole areas of stones each about 12-foot square and loaf-shaped, larger on the average than the slabs of Stonehenge.

Composed of a limestone shell-hash in contrast to the aeolian limestone of the surrounding sea-bed, the stones are not a natural formation according to Dr. Zink, although some researchers have described them as simply "pleistocene beach rock."

"Their overall alignment," explained Dr. Zink, "is very straight on both axis of the horseshoe with a 90 degree turn that is quite regular. Faults in the sea-bed beneath the stones do not correspond with the rectangular joints of the stones themselves. If these are said to be stress joints they should continue on into the bedrock which we found to be perfectly coherent, so the beach rock argument just doesn't hold up."

The new investigations at Bimini have sparked interest in Nassau, the Bahamas' capital, resulting in the formation of the Bahamas Antiquities Institute Limited by Senate President, Dr. Doris Johnson. The Institute has obtained a license from government for further explorations at Bimini and recently opened a museum for the display of artifacts and photographs from the site as well as relics from sunken treasure ships in the area. Dr. Zink has been named research director for the Institute.

FRESHWATER SPONGES — There are at least 30 species of sponges found growing on rocks, twigs or other solid surfaces in the ponds, lakes and streams of North America. The sponge body consists of a flexible skeleton which is laced with a network of interconnecting canals. These canals lead to small pores on the exterior, while inside, these canals are lined with cells which create a current of water through the body. These so-called "collar cells" trap bacteria and bits of debris, which they pass to digestive cells located in the canal walls.

Senior citizens week

The Ministry of Community and Social Services sets aside just one week a year as Senior Citizens Week, but community involvement by seniors should be a year-round experience.

That's the opinion of James Taylor, Minister of Community and Social Services.

"Senior Citizens have resources that are just too valuable to waste," he said. "We are asking them for their help, and they will benefit by providing it -- a sense of self-satisfaction. It works both ways, and everyone benefits from it."

"Older persons can be of the greatest help to today's young people," Mr. Taylor said. "They have seen more, done more, and watched society change, as the years pass. In a modern world, they know the true meaning of the word 'progress'. What they have seen is invaluable to younger people."

Senior Citizens' Week has two aims. To encourage seniors to volunteer for activities they enjoy, or may be able to help with, and to let the general public know about the vast knowledge and experience of seniors.

The slogan for this year's campaign to be held June 20 - 26 is: "There is a job for Senior Citizens."

Mrs. H.B. (Clara) Slaven 84, Provincial President for the Hones for the Aged Auxiliaries said "The slogan says it all." Mrs. Slaven, of Picton, tours the province assisting senior citizens to develop their potential.

"I see these people every day," she said. "Getting active is what they need. Otherwise, they'll just sit, and think about the lives they've had, without taking the future into consideration. They think it's all over, but it's not really. And there's a lot of lonely people out there that this can help."

Almost one Ontario resident in eleven is over 65 years of age. But, only four percent of senior citizens live in Homes for the Aged. More than 85 percent live with their spouse or with relatives.

Women generally outlive men, mainly because of genetic factors. In the aged, stress is the major cause of heart weakening, the major cause of death.

Many other diseases and illnesses are caused, in part, by inactivity. Seniors, in fact, could be even healthier if they were more active.

Some of Canada's most famous and most active people are senior citizens.

Gordon Sinclair, 76, is a radio commentator and an important television personality.

Morley Callaghan, 74, a famous Canadian author published his latest book last year.

True Davidson, 76, a famous Canadian politician began work on her PhD in her seventies.

The Right Honorable John Diefenbaker, 81, is still one of Canada's most active Parliamentarians.

"These are people who know so much," Mr. Taylor said. "We can't deny the fact that this should have been done long ago. That's why the slogan."

Lindsay man, 92, credits work and no tobacco with longevity

Ninety-two-year-old John Alexander Tripp of RR3, Lindsay, a one-time prospector, attributes his long life and good health to hard work and abstinence from all forms of tobacco.

Mr. Tripp and his wife Francis have nine children (five boys and four girls), 24 grandchildren and 25 great grandchildren not to mention sons and daughters-in-law.

"There has not been a death in the history of our (immediate) family and very little illness. All of our sons and daughters, sons-in-laws and daughters-in-law - none of them used tobacco of any kind. Cigarettes have killed a lot of people but they hadn't killed any of mine and they all have good homes and good jobs."

"We are very proud of our family. They have always brought us pleasure instead of sorrow."

Mr. Tripp was born in Minden, February 5, 1884. His family moved to Haliburton when he was two years old and to Bancroft when he was four. He recalls that it took three days to go from Haliburton to Bancroft in winter by horsedrawn sleigh.

He lived in Bancroft until he was 16 then went to work as a water boy when the railroad between Bancroft and Belleville was being built. He was paid 80 cents a day but recalls that a good meal at that time cost only 12 cents.

SILVER STRIKE

He then worked in the bush near Algonquin Park before heading north to Cobalt to work as a prospector for the Golden Horseshoe Mining Co.

He discovered silver and a mine was opened on the site of his discovery. That job paid $3 a day when men back home could not make any more than 50 cents a day. "It was the first time I ever put any money in the bank."

On July 12, 1909 (a similar date when most men would be hard pressed to come up with), he recalls that he met his future wife in Haileybury. They were married in Sturgeon Falls, October 12, of the same year.

In March of 1910, after having filed on a homestead in Saskatchewan, he and his wife moved west where they farmed a quarter section west of Saskatoon for 10 years.

Found guilty of UIC fraud

Lee Gill of Trent River was found guilty of fraud on the 15th of June 1976 in regards to false statements in connection with his unemployment insurance claim.

Judge R.B. Batten charged

Gill $100 for each of five counts of 10 days consecutive in jail if in default. Gill was also assessed an overpayment of $972. from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

"Misleading" ... PHNs say - refute chairman's remarks

"Misleading" is the word locked out public health nurses attached to the Haliburton-Kawartha, Pine Ridge Health Unit used to describe health board chairman Reeve Mervyn Moore's statement relative to VON services in this district.

In a statement made last Friday morning the public health nurses attached to this unit say flatly that the Victorian Order of Nurses are not performing public health services.

"Reeve Moore's recent statement that the VON are carrying on while PHNs are locked out is misleading," the PHN statement refutes. "Of course VON nurses are carrying on their full services but they are doing no public health nursing whatsoever. VON, Home Care and Public Health are three separate programs. The only one under the district Board of Health is the Public Health Nursing Service - VON have their own board and Home Care is 100 per cent funded by the province."

"The lockout of the Public Health Nurses by the Board of Health has caused a complete shutdown of all P.H. Nursing Services since May 10, 1976."

"On Wednesday, June 16 at Queen's Park, Dr. Bette Stephenson, Minister of Labour, said there would be a meeting on Friday, June 18 with the Association of Boards of Health of Ontario to discuss the situation. We are hopeful that we shall be able to persuade them to a national route of activity which will resolve this problem," she said. Dr. Stephenson has stated in the legislature that she feels arbitration is the best route to follow."

"Five Boards of Health have voluntarily sent their disputes for arbitration and two other boards have settled. The local nurses have said all along that arbitration is a far more rational route than lockout and that they are willing to accept any arbitration board ruling."

"The direction in health care is towards prevention. It is far less expensive to prevent illness than it is to treat it."

"Public Health Nurses are the part-time workers in preventing illness. This service must be restored."

"All nurses are professionals and no matter what field they choose to work in are performing essential services. The principle of parity for all nurses is recognized by the Hospital, the V.O.N. Board and Victoria County. All these nurses are on the same wage scale. Why does our Board of Health not recognize this principle?"

Gems of Truth

The Daring Fellowship

The Church is born! That which Jesus said He would do ere He went to the cross was now a reality, Matthew 16:18. That new and daring fellowship that sprung into being on the "Day of Pentecost" was the beginning of a mighty work that Jehovah God was to accomplish among lost mankind. The might Power of the Godhead was now able to save sinners from an "Eternal Doom" and bring such together into a new fellowship of Heavenly people which He was pleased to call "the Church."

That Church was indeed something of His own making as never before had there been a people who acted as God-like as those early Christians of the Church Age. How did they get that way? Simply by letting the Holy Spirit empty them of all that pertained to the things of this present world. There are those who say that God was filling the disciples who heeded His command to wait at Jerusalem for the "Power" from on high. But those ten days of waiting was not a time of filling, rather those were the days of emptying.

The tremendous results of the testimony of those first members of the Church were the outcome of empty vessels, now filled with God Himself. Jehovah the Lord, Jesus the Son and the Holy Spirit now took up residence in the earthly Temples of every true child of God. What a blessed privilege to belong to the family of God and have the Triune God reside in His people!

Such truth almost staggers our imagination, but is nevertheless the exact truth that the Word of God teaches. Apart from this initial fellowship with the Lord God, all claims of being His child fall apart. He, who created man, also knows that His fellowship with man was disrupted by the sin of disobedience. Through the love and mercy of the Creator, the redemptive ministry of the Lord Jesus Christ provided a way of reconciliation, whereby that fellowship could be restored, 2 Corinthians 5:18-21. Thus the Apostle John reminds us as he writes to the true children of God, "That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us; and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with His Son Jesus Christ," 1 John 1:3.

This fellowship that we have with God is extended to the three Persons of the Trinity. The love of the Father is only known as the Son is received as personal Saviour, John 3:16, 15:9. Christians, knowing the Son as Saviour have a real fellow feeling with God. The Lord Jesus loves the Father with a love equal to that which the Father has for Him. So we also love the Father, because He first loved us as sinners, 1 John 4:10, 19. In this we have fellowship with our Lord Jesus Christ. Then the Holy Spirit, loves the Father and the Son and has great delight to make their graces and greatness known to the world. He never speaks about Himself, but exalts the great Jehovah. This is exactly what the stir was all about on the "Day of Pentecost", John 16:13, 14, Acts 2:14-26.

The fellowship that was evident in the early Church was the result of the sharing of initial fellowship with God. "Fellowship" is a New Testament word, the root meaning of the word is to have things in common, share, and share alike. It is a mutual interest and love for certain things that bring people together. The "Early Church" had a "common faith", and a "common salvation", Titus 1:4, Jude 1:3, Philippians 1:5. Christianity is essentially a fellowship, but it does not begin and end in material things, nor is it limited to our fellow men.

The unity of the early Church was maintained by building on the true foundation. Saturated as those Jews were with the Old Testament, they now put themselves under God's Word. What the Church needs to-day is a new subjection to the Scriptures in order to affect a new unity. Instead of being hidebound by the emphasis of groups and sects, Christians should remove all man-made boundaries in their souls and open their heart and mind to what the Scripture says. A new submission to the Word of God would bring a new humility of mind such as was experienced on the Day of Pentecost. The result would be a new unity, such as all truly born again Christians are longing for and expect to see, the Lord of the Church returns for His own. 1 Thes. 4:13-18.

Certified General Accountants news

MAINTENANCE OF STANDARDS PROGRAM

Toronto, Ontario - A widening program for the maintenance of professional standards and increased review of student qualifications are among the highlights of the annual report of the Certified General Accountants Association of Ontario.

The association, a leader in encouraging continued professional development among accountants, has begun a voluntary reporting system that recognizes post-graduate courses and other professional achievements such as publications of papers and significant elected offices held by C.G.A.s.

"For the members, professional development is a state of mind, an acceptance of your professional responsibilities to keep up to date. The true professional continues his development throughout his career," says the report.

A total of 2,056 students on C.G.A. rolls were subject to review of their experience qualifications during the year, a mammoth task, the report notes.

The undergraduate evaluation criteria have been carefully developed and refined over the years, the association states, and are applied uniformly.

High point of the association's own professional development program during the year was a forum on Anti-Inflation Board regulations attended by 500 participants.

NEW PRESIDENT OF C.G.A.'s PROMISES PURSUIT OF HUMAN RESOURCE ACCOUNTING

Toronto, Ontario - Human resource accounting must be actively pursued as an acceptable and standard accounting principle for the inclusion in corporate financial statements, believes the incoming president of the Certified General Accountants Association of Ontario, Donald H. Page, C.G.A.

Mr. Page, elected at the association's annual meeting today, said this was one major aspect of accounting research and refinement that the C.G.A. was addressing itself to as part of a continuing program.

"Employment costs are significant as a percentage of total operating overhead, greater than depreciation and amortization," he said. "Yet very seldom does one see the human resource asset appear in dollars on the corporate balance sheet properly recording the management or mismanagement of this resource."

Mr. Page said the association would use every opportunity to encourage all levels of government to revamp their spending patterns, to give greater emphasis to the need and the cost/benefit justification rather than on the assumption and vote principle.

Graduate C.G.A.'s he said were increasing yearly by 10 to 15%, a phenomenal growth rate & one not enjoyed by other accounting associations in Canada. The total number of C.G.A.s now exceeded 2,500. Undergraduate enrolment was growing by nine to 13% and the total now exceeded 6,000.

"We are a dynamic association of professional accountants with courage and foresight, very proud of our growing strengths, our very high calibre of member and undergraduate, and the very high level of respect we enjoy from industry and government" said Mr. Page. This is a respect which we have neither purchased nor coerced, but a respect we have earned on performance and integrity."

Motorcycles, crossings and paved shoulders affected by new amendments on July 1

Toronto - Effective July 1, motorcyclists will be required to turn on their front and rear lights day and night; as of September 1, school crossing guards will have the authority to stop traffic with a stop sign; and, effective immediately, drivers may now use a paved shoulder to pass to the right of a vehicle making a left turn, as a result of new legislation given Royal Assent.

In announcing the legislation, Transportation and Communications Minister James Snow said, "Ontario motorcyclists will have to operate with their front and rear lamps on at all times, day or night, when they are on the road."

"This will not include motorcycles manufactured before January 1, 1970. Older motorcycles may not be equipped electrically to handle the constant use of the lights. A breakdown could result."

The Highway Traffic Act specifies one white light at the front of a motorcycle, one red at the rear. Motorcycles with 'sidecars' require two white or amber lights at the front, one red at the rear. They must be visible from a distance of 500 feet.

Also contained in the amendments to the HTA was the section requiring school crossing guards to display a school crossing stop sign when signalling for traffic to stop.

The amendment defines a school crossing guard as "a person 16 years of age or older employed by a municipality to direct the movement of children across a highway."

The stop signs are to be used only on roads with speed limits of 40 mph or less. And no one other than a school crossing guard can use such signs. The design of the signs is to be prescribed by the Ministry. Failure to stop for the sign could make a driver subject to the general penalty of $20 to $100.

Effective immediately, another section of the new legislation permits drivers to use a paved shoulder on a highway when passing to the right of a vehicle making a left turn.

Referring to the motorcycle day and night lighting law, Mr. Snow said, "Many motorcycle accidents occur because the car, truck or bus driver doesn't see the motorcycle or realize it is there until it is too late."

"We hope that by making motorcycles more visible with their lights on at all times, many such tragedies will be avoided."
